Aim

The Trust's objective is to increase its total return above the benchmark index of 50% FTSE All-Share and 50% FTSE All-World Index (ex UK sterling adjusted) over the long term, by investing in UK and international securities. The strategy of the Trust is designed to meet the requirements of those seeking a single investment in a diversified and professionally managed portfolio.

Risks & Features

Investment trusts are quoted companies listed on the London Stock Exchange. Their share prices are determined by factors including the balance of supply and demand in the market, which means that the shares may trade below (at a discount to) or above (at a premium to) the underlying net asset value.

The Trust seeks to enhance returns for its shareholders through gearing, in the form of long-term, fixed rate debentures. Gearing can boost the Trust's returns when investments perform well, though losses can be magnified when investments lose value. You should be aware that this Trust may be subject to sudden and large falls in value and you could suffer substantial capital loss.

History

The Trust was formed from the Brunner family's interest in the sale of Brunner, Mond & Co, the largest of the four companies which came to form ICI in 1926. The Trust has been managed by RCM (a subsidiary of Allianz Global Investors formerly Kleinwort Benson) since inception.

Fund Managers' Review

January was a negative start for equity markets retracing some of the gains seen since last March. Risk aversion returned to the markets as sovereign risk worries in the peripheral countries hit the headlines. The Greek budget deficit, which at 12.7% of GDP is the largest in Europe, came under intense scrutiny. The cost of insuring Spanish and Portuguese debt against default also soared, with Spain unveiling plans to cut their budget deficit by two thirds in an attempt to avoid a similar fate to the Greek economy. In addition to this, The People's Bank of China raised the yield on its three month bills and increased its interest rates for the first time since the rate was cut in December 2008 to try and slow lending growth. Amidst the indifferent macro news, recent quarterly results were positive with a majority of companies beating market consensus via margin improvement rather than just via cost cutting, suggesting that the outlook for many industries is beginning to improve.

Brunner performed behind its benchmark in January as some of the portfolio's strongest performers in the recent market rally struggled with investors taking profits and retreating to more defensive stocks. Brazilian Banco Itau was the worst performer as sovereign risk worries weighed on some of the banks and the Brazilian stock market fell heavily. Bayer performed poorly after being fined by the Swiss competition commission, while ArcelorMittal and Freeport-Mcmoran also gave back some of their recent gains as commodity prices cooled. On the positive side Sony continued its good recent performance as its Q3 results were stronger than expected mainly due to better profitability in its TVs. The holdings in US regional banks also worked well with Suntrust Banks returning over 20% for the quarter.

³A trust's net asset value (NAV) is calculated as available shareholders' funds divided by the number of shares in issue, with shareholders' funds taken to be the net value of all the company's assets after deducting liabilities. In line with current industry best practice NAVs are now shown that take into account the 'fair value' of debt. This means NAVs are calculated after allowing for the valuation of debt at fair value or current market price, rather than at final repayment value. NAVs with debt at market value provide a more realistic impact of the cost of debt, and thus a more realistic discount. It is the capital NAV that is shown, which excludes any income.

Standardised past performance figures comply with the Financial Services Authority's regulations to enable investors to compare different products from different providers.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. You should not make any assumptions on the future on the basis of performance information. The value of an investment and the income from it can fall as well as rise as a result of market fluctuations and you may not get back the amount originally invested.

This investment trust charges 70% of its annual management fee to the capital account and 30% to revenue. This could lead to a higher level of income but capital growth will be constrained as a result. Your capital could also decrease if income paid out of capital exceeds the growth rate of the trust.
