Aim

The Trust's objective is to increase its total return above the benchmark index of 50% FTSE All-Share and 50% FTSE All-World Index (ex UK sterling adjusted) over the long term, by investing in UK and international securities. The strategy of the Trust is designed to meet the requirements of those seeking a single investment in a diversified and professionally managed portfolio.

Risks & Features

Investment trusts are quoted companies listed on the London Stock Exchange. Their share prices are determined by factors including the balance of supply and demand in the market, which means that the shares may trade below (at a discount to) or above (at a premium to) the underlying net asset value.

The Trust seeks to enhance returns for its shareholders through gearing, in the form of long-term, fixed rate debentures. Gearing can boost the Trust's returns when investments perform well, though losses can be magnified when investments lose value. You should be aware that this Trust may be subject to sudden and large falls in value and you could suffer substantial capital loss.

History

The Trust was formed from the Brunner family's interest in the sale of Brunner, Mond & Co, the largest of the four companies which came to form ICI in 1926. The Trust has been managed by RCM (a subsidiary of Allianz Global Investors formerly Kleinwort Benson) since inception.

April saw World equity markets, as measured by the Brunner benchmark, decline slightly, with Europe and the US almost offsetting each other. The macro data from the US was positive, as the ISM manufacturing index climbed to its highest level since July 2004, suggesting that factories are beginning to bolster inventories in anticipation of healthy demand. New and existing home sales also rose sharply along with the consumer confidence index, suggesting that the recovery is gaining pace. In contrast, sovereign debt dominated headlines in Europe with Greece formally requesting an emergency loan from the EU and IMF. S&P downgraded Greek sovereign debt to 'Junk' and have also downgraded Portugal by two levels and Spain by one. This brings sharply into focus investor fears that Greece is not the only country who may struggle to finance their debt and a co-ordinated effort from Eurozone members will be needed to stop a contagion effect.

The performance of the portfolio (-1.87% NAV) was slightly behind its benchmark (-1.25%) in April as positive performance from stocks such as International Personal Finance, Apple and Melrose could not offset the negative performance of the resources names in the portfolio. US oil names Transocean and Anadarko were the worst performers within the portfolio as a Transocean rig sank into the Gulf of Mexico after an explosion. BNP Paribas also had a difficult month as the IMF proposed a levy on non depositary bank activities and European banks were shunned by investors worried about any possible exposure to Greece. International Personal Finance had another positive month after a solid Q1 trading announcement. US regional bank Suntrust, whose market in the Southern States had been hit by the US housing crisis, reported a narrower loss than analysts expected, with the shares moving strongly as a result.

³A trust's net asset value (NAV) is calculated as available shareholders' funds divided by the number of shares in issue, with shareholders' funds taken to be the net value of all the company's assets after deducting liabilities. In line with current industry best practice NAVs are now shown that take into account the 'fair value' of debt. This means NAVs are calculated after allowing for the valuation of debt at fair value or current market price, rather than at final repayment value. NAVs with debt at market value provide a more realistic impact of the cost of debt, and thus a more realistic discount. It is the capital NAV that is shown, which excludes any income.

Standardised past performance figures comply with the Financial Services Authority's regulations to enable investors to compare different products from different providers.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. You should not make any assumptions on the future on the basis of performance information. The value of an investment and the income from it can fall as well as rise as a result of market fluctuations and you may not get back the amount originally invested.

This investment trust charges 70% of its annual management fee to the capital account and 30% to revenue. This could lead to a higher level of income but capital growth will be constrained as a result. Your capital could also decrease if income paid out of capital exceeds the growth rate of the trust.
